The New York World seems to have been studying the political situation to good purpose. Some time ago it vehemently declared that the next President would surely be a Der ocrat. Of course as a good party organ tils not yet ready to absolutely abandon the field, but in view of existing facts the best encouragement it can now offer its readers is to very lantely remark that "the next President may still be a Democrat." It is easy to see, however, that our contemporary does not have much faith it this mild predicapon Chicago and is watching the Cleveland-Hill fight with evident satisfaction. Indeed he is reported as saying: should have been Governor of New York long ago but for Cleveland and Hill. Now that they are destroying each other. I do not see that I am called upon to shed any tears." If they cannot secure the nomination of Hill the New York Democratic ring would doubt ess like to see the boice of the convention fall upon Flower's shoulders. His nomination would elevate Sheehan to the Governor's chair and that would give the gang a stronger pull even than it has to-day.

The Portland Press stys: The current number of the North American Review contains as its leading feature a symposium on the "Man or the Platform." To this symposium articles are contributed by eminent public men, among them Hon. C. A. Bontelle, of Maine Mr. Boutelle holds that, taken all in all, the platform is more than the man, that the opposition to the extension of slavery counted for more than the name of Lincoln in 1860, that honest payment of public indebtede-s and a free ballot and a fair count were principles that cour led for more than even than the name of Grant in 1868; and that the same principle has held good in all Presidential elections since and will hold good next fall. Mr. Boutelle believes that the Republican platform, calling as it will for an honest ballet, honest currency and a tartiff to protect our labor and sales and a tartiff to protect our labor and sales and a tartiff to protect our labor and sales and sales are sales as well as low prices to Registers Designed Designed Sales and Sales and Sales are sales as well as low prices to Registers Designed Designed Sales and Sales are sales as well as low prices to Registers Designed Designed Sales and Sales are sales as well as low prices to Registers Designed Designed Sales and Sales are sales as well as low prices to Registers Designed Designed Sales and Sales and Sales are sales as well as low prices to Registers Designed Sales and Sales are sales as a sales c) and a tariff to protect our labor and develop our resources will carry the party through with surer prospects of victory thun can be given by the personality of any candidate.

Onr Foreign Commerce. The strong sided champions of the English manufacturers, namely, the Democrats, have insisted that the effect of the tand has been to cripple our foreign trade. This, like the other statements of the free traders, has n foundation in fact. We are of the opinion that the fig-nes obtained by the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, showing the foreign commerce of the United States for the three Venus ending March 31 1892, compared with the commerce for the three years ending March 31, 1889, will not be conspicuously displayed in the free trade organs. During the three years closing March 31,1892, our exposts of mercha dise aggregated the great value of 82,721. 195,000, or an annual average of $907,-083,731. During the three years ending March 31, 1889, our exports of merchan-dise aggregated 82,159,343,289, or an anoual average value of $719,781,096. It will be observed that our exports of merchandise during the three years ending March 31, 1892, exceede 1 these of the three years ending March 31, 1889, by the sum of $561,907,906, or an annual average excess of $187,302,635. Our imports of merchandise during the three years ending March 31, 1892, amounted to the value of $2,410,053,828, and the value of the imports of merchandise during the three years ending March 31, 1889, amounted to $2,130,358,910. The anoual average of the value of the imports during the three years ending March 31, 1889, was 8710,110,637, and during the three years ending March 31, 1392, 4813,-351,276 The excess of exports over imports during the three years enting March 31, 1889, aggregated $28,984,37£,or a yearly average of 89,601,459. amusing to see them dedge and avoid tast! question and akip from candidate. to can didate. I have a friend on the other side! of the House who was a Cleveland man is cember. In Junuary he was for Hill Policy No. but deserted him for some good Western man' after Hill's snap convention. Then he shifted his choice to Pattison, but soon left him for Gorman. Last week he in formed me that Campbell was the comin man, but the day after the lows conven tion he was shouting for Boles.

Yesterday he was for Cleveland again and I don't know where he stands to-day for I have not yet seen him. I support most of the Democrats are skipping about in the same sort of fashion, although they try to conceal it. A majority of them believe that he would be the stronges candidate and the rest would sooner sehim defeated than either of the other mer named. I judge from what I hear Demo cratic members say in private that thel hope of a Democratic victory next fall is extremely slight and weak. In all my experience I have never before seen mem bers of a political party so discouraged as Democratic members of this House. They are discouraged not only on account of their party, but over their own prospects. A good many of them will fall in the November battle, and they already begin to taste the bitterness of in-evitable defeat."

1 3 mm j. J. ., ه دي ا It is absolutely impossible for the human mind to form any adequate idea of so vast a sum as $90,000,000. Some approxi nate idea, however, may be en-tertained by the help of a few compari-sons. If this vast sum of money were in silver dollars of the United States, it would weigh 2700 tons. If it were in gold deflars, it would weigh 331,650 pounds. If it were in dollar bills, spread side by side on the ground, thus forming a complete carpet, it would cover 3332 acres; and if these same dollar bils were laid end to end they would reach 10,653 miles, almost haifay around the globe. It will be ob ious from all of these statistics the sum is an enormous one. In fact, it represents the vast fortunes of two of he richest men in this country, na Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Mr. John D. Rocksfeller. There are only two men in it is country richer than these: William Walderf Aster and Jay Gould. men in its country richer than these:
Witham Waldorf Astor and Jay Goold.
Witham Waldorf Astor and Jay Goold.
Yet this enormous sum of $90,000,000 is precisely what will be kaved to this country every year by the Cotton Picker.
The machine will earn every year during the cutton picking season of 66 days $1000. It cost $110,000,000 to pick the $0.000,000 bales raised last year. This machine is capable of picking this entire crop for $20,000,000, a difference of $50,000,000 a year saved to the country.
Of counts, a large per cent of this will be saved to the cotton planters.
They
cend it beally, for the low price of cotton has entirely consumed their profits, But a very considerable part of this $50,000,000 will go to the inventor, the promoters, and to the early stockholders in the Cotton Picker Company. These machines can be built for less than $100.
It is the intention of the company not to sell a single machine, but to lease them to tre planters on a royalty of $4 a bale. 'As the planters now pay to have there to the providerable part of bour cotton picked by hand $12 50 a bale, they will save the difference between these two figures. A royally of $4 a bale, when the entire cotton crop is picked by this machine, will mean an annual gress income to the company of something like $36,000,000. A simply unpercede ted revenue. But the demand for backiness for the company of something facilities, a few shares of its
